Cruise Packing List

Travel Essentials

- Passport/ID + Visa (if needed)
- Credit/debit cards, cash
- Printed/digital travel itinerary
- Travel insurance documents
- Solar power bank (so you never run out of juice)
- Bluetooth headphones/earbuds
- Healthy travel snacks (because airport pretzels = sadness)
- Reusable water bottle with filter (you can never be too careful)
- TSA-approved toiletry kit
- Dry shampoo or travel-sized hair care
- Lip balm & moisturizer (planes + city air = dry skin)
- Small first-aid kit
- PPE kit with face masks & hand wipes
- Medications (Rx + painkillers, motion sickness meds)
- Undergarments (pack more than you think you need trust us)
- Swiss army knife (in check-in baggage)
- Duct tape (the MacGyver of travel gear)
- Packing cubes (the unicorn of suitcase organization)
- Travel laundry detergent sheets (for longer stays)

Must-haves for All Cruises:

- Motion sickness patches or wristbands
- Swimsuits & cover-ups (yes, even Alaska cruises have hot tubs)
- Casual + formal dinner outfits
- Lanyard for the room key
- Flip-flops AND non-slip walking shoes
- Magnetic hook set (cabin walls = metal, hooks = genius)
- Foldable travel mug
- Dry bag (for shore excursions)
- Cruise booking docs + boarding passes

For Alaska Cruise:

Waterproof boots

- Thermal layers + windproof jacket
- Compact binoculars (for whales, not neighbors)

For Disney® Cruise:

- Pirate night costume (mandatory if you want to out-fun your kids)
- Autograph book for Disney® character meets
- Disney®-themed outfits (Mouse ears = cool currency onboard)

Cruise Packing Tips:

Pack a carry-on bag with the travel essentials above — luggage can take hours to arrive in your cabin.